Reminiscent of old factories, an industrial character is the central theme of this style. The metallic reproductions have been given a rusty surface structure, which is particularly enhanced by a matt-gloss effect. By contrast the wood reproductions show an individual character through the use of a metallic lustre or limed pores.

The designs in this style are inspired by the small-scale processing inherent in handcrafted surfaces. Deeply brushed wood reproductions through to sandblasted surfaces display the natural character of the materials.

The artisanal nature of the material reproductions ensure a high level of authenticity for our metal, wiped and leather textures.

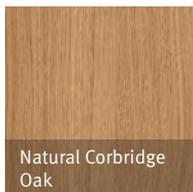

A sophisticated interior scene showcasing modern classic decor. The central focus is a glowing lamp with a spherical, textured shade made of numerous clear, faceted glass or crystal spheres, mounted on a white, three-legged base. To its left, a tall, slender, metallic vase holds a dark, textured, organic-shaped object. In the foreground, a black wireframe desk organizer holds a white envelope and a notebook with a dark cover and a pen. The background features a framed abstract artwork and a dark, reflective surface that mirrors the objects. The overall aesthetic is clean, minimalist, and elegant.

The decors in this style are traditionally considered classical, however, they are given a contemporary look through the use of exciting colour gradients and new textures.

The wood reproductions contain very natural elements and their colours ensure a wide variety of possible combinations.

The stone reproduction uses a subtle interplay of colours, making it perfect for numerous combinations with uni colours.

The generous open spaces of city loft living are represented through various material reproductions which are also to be found in the urban area and wear a lightly used look.

In addition, light woods generate a certain lightness against the stone materials to provide a warm ambiance.

The Living Nature style takes its inspiration from the vast array of colours and textures that occur all throughout nature. The grains, branches, cracks and pores present in the various wood decors ensure a tangible effect that comes very close to the original material.

The stone reproduction is also very authentic thanks to the matt texture.

This style contains decors that portray a wide variety of colours, without necessarily emulating the colour of the original material, thereby lending them a particularly unique character. This means the type of wood is more of a background element allowing the colour to take centre stage.
